

JOHN FELICE ROME CENTER

Academic Policies

General Academic Information & Registration

All students at Loyola University Chicago's John Felice Rome Center are continuing or visiting students of Loyola University Chicago. As such, they fall under the academic regulations as stated in Loyola's undergraduate catalog, unless there are published exceptions to these regulations specifically for students at the John Felice Rome Center.

All students must be enrolled full-time in a minimum of four (4) classes, amounting to twelve (12) credit hours. This is the minimum course load required for all students in order to comply with the terms of the student visa provided by the Italian government. Dropping below four (4) classes is considered part-time study, and thus, not in compliance with Italian law. The maximum course load is six (6) courses for a total of eighteen (18) credit hours. Internships carry three semester credits and require 100 hours of work experience.

It is the students' responsibility to know their home schools' academic requirements and how the courses they propose to take at the Rome Center fit into those requirements. The Rome Center will not contact schools for information regarding core curriculum requirements, honors agreements, graduation requirements, pass-fail policies, withdrawal policies, etc. Before coming to Rome, students should have a clear understanding of their home schools' approval of courses they will or might take while at the Center. Alternate course selections should also be approved in the event a first choice is not available, i.e., closed courses, cancelled courses, etc. It is mandatory for all students to seek appropriate advice and counseling for any special academic situation, i.e., graduating seniors, core or other special course requirements, tutorial courses, pass-fail requirements, transfer of credit, course approval, etc.

Loyola University of Chicago reserves the right to cancel, modify or otherwise change the academic calendar, scheduling, credit or content of the courses, the books used, the final exam schedule, the fees charged, and regulations affecting the students, as announced in its schedule. Always refer to Locus for the most up-to-date and accurate listings.

Program Criteria

All students must have a 2.75 grade point average at the time of application and maintain this GPA during the semester before studying abroad at the Rome Center. It is not permitted to study at the John Felice Rome Center with multiple outstanding incompletes. Any student with a pending incomplete in the previous semester before attending the Rome Center will be required to submit an appeal to the Office of the Associate Dean of Academic Affairs at the Rome Center.

Campus Health

The collective health of the Rome Center community is everyone's responsibility. The Rome Center will conduct all activity according to policies and best practices as prescribed by the Italian Ministries of Health and Education and in consultation with the Loyola University Chicago main campus. These policies will be subject to change as the situation warrants.

Pre-requisites

Students are responsible to ensure that all pre-requisites have been met with the assistance of their academic advisor at the main campus (for Loyola students) or at their home school (partnering students) before coming abroad.

Italian Language

Except for those students who have previously successfully completed the equivalent of a university-level course in the Italian language or those who demonstrate native fluency and proficiency, all students are required to register for ITAL 101 Italian I. Enrollment in ITAL 101 Italian I is the Rome Center's program requirement and it cannot be waived or replaced by another language. Auditing ITAL 101 Italian I and/or withdrawing from it is not permitted.

E-mail

The Rome Center considers electronic mail an official form of communication between the Rome Center and the student, using the official @luc.edu e-mail address that is provided by the university to every enrolled student. Students are responsible for all communications sent by the Rome Center to their Loyola e-mail accounts.

Course Fees

Certain courses at the John Felice Rome Center are subject to supplemental fees. These fees are in addition to the tuition and room and board fees that appear on a student's bill for the semester, and they are charged to the student's Locus account shown as "Course Fees." These mandatory fees are highlighted on the course schedule and on the Rome Center website. They are required for various reasons including covering the costs of course materials, on-site visits and entrance fees, and other expenses related to courses.

Course Materials and Textbooks

Some Rome Center courses require textbooks, novels and other course materials that need to be purchased by the student. It is the student's responsibility to confirm the required materials needed in their classes and to purchase those within a timely manner at the start of the semester in Rome. Rome Center faculty will provide their students with recommendations and suggestions about where to find required materials.

Student Travel

No special accommodations will be made for individual student travel. The Rome Center supports travel as an opportunity for personal growth by offering excursions and trips throughout Italy and Europe. In addition, there are no classes on Friday (with the exception of 2-3 Friday class days per semester) to facilitate individual travel. Personal travel, including travel that incurs delays back to campus, is not a permitted excuse for absences or lateness. For that reason, no exams or quizzes are to be made up if missed for reasons of travel. Students are responsible for communicating any lateness or absence due to travel to the correct parties at the Rome Center (Student Life, faculty, etc.).

Simultaneous Enrollment/Online Courses

Simultaneous enrollment in Rome Center courses and LSC/WTC courses is not permitted while studying at the Rome Center. Simultaneous enrollment in Rome Center courses and any online sections (at LUC or any other institution) is not permitted while studying at the Rome Center. The minimum of 4 courses must be taken at the Rome Center campus in person to comply with student visa regulations. Enrollment in sections outside of the Rome Center is not permitted.

Fridays Class Days

The Rome Center holds classes four days a week, Monday through Thursday. On average, 2-3 Friday class days will be scheduled during any given semester. These Fridays will be indicated in the semester's academic calendar (both on the website and on campus, on the academic bulletin board on campus, and on course syllabi. The purpose of these Friday class days is to recuperate any class time lost from any holidays. These classes are obligatory for all students and no exemptions will be granted for travel or any other personal reason. Should a student choose to travel during these or any other scheduled class days, he or she will simply be marked absent. Note that individual courses may occasionally include events or visits on Fridays or otherwise outside the typical schedule that are obligatory for that course; students should check syllabi for such instances in order to avoid unexcused absences.

Examination Policy

Final examinations are given during the scheduled examination period each semester. Additional tests or examinations may be given during the semester as often as deemed helpful by the instructor. Students who miss any scheduled exam or quiz, including a final exam at the assigned hours will not be permitted to sit for a make-up examination without approval of the Associate Dean of Academic Affairs. Permission is given rarely and only for grave reason; travel is not considered a grave reason. Make-up exams will only be given for documented absences.

Mid-term examinations and/or assignments are administered around the mid-semester break. Student progress is assessed after mid-term so that students who are not performing to established academic standards may be informed of their academic progress far enough in advance to take corrective steps. Early academic alert notices are issued to students who are not performing at acceptable levels; notices may also be sent to the students' deans and/or study abroad coordinators if deemed appropriate. The policy concerning travel and make-up examinations for missed mid-term exams is identical to that for all exams.

Absence due to a serious illness must be reported to the Associate Dean of Academic Affairs prior to the examination and later substantiated by a written statement from the physician in attendance. Absences due to quarantine will be handled on a case-by-case basis. In cases where proper permission has not been granted, a grade of "F" will be assigned. In instances where proper authorization has been granted, the student may take a make-up exam by following the make-up procedure outlined above.

Final Exam Policy

In accordance with established policy at the home campus, exams must be held at the time and location indicated on the academic calendar and final exam schedule. Faculty have been instructed not to hold exams during the last week of class. With the exception of a short quiz, no exams are permitted during the last week of classes before final exams.

If students have more than three examinations in the same day, they may appeal to the Associate Dean of Academic Affairs to shift one of the exams to another day. After securing advance permission and in consultation with the Associate Dean and faculty member, an alternative time can be arranged at a mutually agreed upon time.

Student Attendance Policy

It is expected that students will attend and participate actively in all class meetings both on-campus and on-site. Class participation is an essential part of the grading policy of each instructor. All Rome Center courses have the same attendance policy as is indicated explicitly on course syllabi.

Rome Center Attendance Policy is as follows:

In accordance with the Rome Center mission to promote a higher level of academic rigor, all courses adhere to the following absence policy. Prompt attendance, preparation and active participation in course discussions are expected from every student.

- For all classes meeting once a week, students cannot incur more than one absence.
- For all classes meeting twice a week, students cannot incur more than two absences.
- For all classes meeting three times a week, students cannot incur more than two absences.

The final course grade will drop by 1% for each absence beyond the allowance specified.

Attendance is mandatory in class including on all scheduled Friday class days. Absences will be excused only in the event of sickness or an emergency. Students should consult the on-campus nurse or call the on-call doctor if they are sick. The collective health of the Rome Center is everyone's responsibility. Do not attend class if you are ill. In the event of missed classes due to sickness or the obligation to quarantine, the offices of the Rome Center Academic Dean and Student Life will work with students and professors to ensure access to course content.

Students from Partner Institutions

Should a student's home university have certain requirements or regulations regarding academics while abroad, it is the students' responsibility to familiarize themselves with such policies. While studying at the Rome Center, all students are considered Loyola University Chicago students, and are therefore subject to LUC policies and requirements.

Student Accessibility Center (SAC) Services

Any student that is registered with the Student Accessibility Center (SAC) at Loyola Chicago's home campus, or any comparable office at another institution, will be accommodated at the Rome Center as reasonably and as closely to their accommodations at their home campus as possible.

To request academic accommodations, official documentation from LUC's Student Accessibility Center is required. Verification of such services must come directly from Student Accessibility Center personnel (not the student) to the Office of the Academic Dean at the Rome Center. It will then be the students' responsibility to confirm the use of their academic accommodations where applicable at the Rome Center, after which the Office of the Academic Dean will provide written verification of the approved accommodations to the students' faculty members. Examples of applicable accommodations may include extended time for tests and quizzes, priority seating, use of audio recording software, and a distraction-reduced testing space. Students should know that certain accommodations are not applicable while studying at the Rome Center.

Specific instructions for coordinating accommodations related to a distraction-reduced testing space will be provided by the Office of the Academic Dean, but students should note the following:

- Scheduling and proctoring of exams and quizzes in a distracted-reduced testing space will require coordination between the student, instructor and the Academic Dean's Office. Please note that the Rome Center does not have access to the "Accommodate" system.

- Students are responsible for communicating with their individual instructors and the Dean's Office to schedule their examinations. Accommodations will not be provided to students who neglect to reach out about scheduling. Below please find the timeline for scheduling a distraction-reduced testing space and proctor.

Type of Exam	Scheduling
Regularly scheduled quizzes/ exams	7 days in advance
Midterms	2 weeks in advance of midterm date
Finals	2 weeks in advance of final date

- Students can choose to opt out of using SAC accommodations and/or opt back in, but only if the request comes seven (7) days before the exam/quiz (for those other than midterm/final) or two (2) weeks before the midterm/final exam. No petitions for SAC accommodations will be granted beyond those dates and no accommodations are retroactive.

With the Rome Center's limited resources, collaboration and flexibility is appreciated during this procedure. The Rome Center is committed to providing all reasonable accommodations where possible.

Academic Integrity/Plagiarism

As one of the campuses of Loyola University Chicago, the Rome Center is committed to academic rigor and excellence. Plagiarism and academic dishonesty of any kind are unacceptable and will not be tolerated. Students are advised to familiarize themselves with Loyola's standards here: http://www.luc.edu/academics/catalog/undergrad/reg_academicintegrity.shtml (http://www.luc.edu/academics/catalog/undergrad/reg_academicintegrity.shtml). Students are responsible to comply with the LUC Student Handbook.

Pass/Fail and Audit Policy

Students should register for all courses as regularly graded courses. For inquiries about pass-no pass and/or audit, please inquire with the Rome Center dean's office for additional information.

Withdrawal from Class

Students may withdraw from class with the final grade of "W" provided this is done before the conclusion of the tenth week of class. Withdrawal after the change of registration period but before the withdraw deadline will result as a "W" on a student's transcript. Withdrawal after the deadline will result in a "WF" on a student's transcript. Please refer to the Academic Calendar for further information on dates and deadlines.

Students may not withdraw from class if doing so will drop them below the 12 semester hour credit minimum required of students in attendance at the Rome Center. Official withdrawals can be made via the LOCUS system or with guidance from the Assistant Dean of Academic Programs.

Please note that withdrawal from ITAL 101 Italian I is not permitted, as this course is a requirement for all Rome Center students with no previous Italian experience.

Academic Grievances and Grade Appeals

Students are encouraged to seek resolutions for any course-related complaints directly with their course instructor. If a student feels that the issue has not been sufficiently resolved, they can bring their issue forward to the attention of the Dean's office. If a resolution cannot be found between the student and the instructor, students are required to follow Loyola University's Academic Grievance Policies as indicated here: https://www.luc.edu/academics/catalog/undergrad/reg_academicgrievance.shtml (https://www.luc.edu/academics/catalog/undergrad/reg_academicgrievance.shtml)

Student Summer Session Academic Policies

Summer Registration Procedure

Students must register for a total of 6 credits (2 courses) as regularly graded courses. During the first two days of classes, students will be permitted to elect a change of registration with the Assistant Dean of Academic Programs. After that publicized deadline, no changes will be made to a student's schedule.

Pass/Fail Policy

To promote the academic rigor of the John Felice Rome Center curriculum, students are not permitted to elect the pass/fail option during a summer session.

Course Materials and Texts

Students are expected to arrive in Rome with their required course materials already in their possession. Summer course texts are available for purchase at the LUC bookstore (both online and in person). There is no guarantee that the required materials will be available in Rome if a student neglects to obtain them before they come.

Attendance Policy

In accordance with the Rome Center mission to promote a higher level of academic rigor, all courses adhere to the following attendance policy. Prompt attendance, preparation and active participation in course discussions are expected from every student. Any lateness or leaving class early will impact the final course grade.

Attendance is mandatory at every class meeting for each course. Absence due to sickness or injury needs to be corroborated by a doctor's note. Students late to class twice will be credited with one absence in accordance with the Rome Center's Attendance policy. Three (3) absences will result in an automatic failure (F). Travel does not constitute reason to miss class.

Withdrawal from Class

Students studying at the Rome Center during the summer semester must be enrolled in two (2) classes for credit. Students will have until the end of the business day on the second day of classes to make any changes to their course schedule. Any changes after the second day of classes may result in "W" or "WF." Students may not withdraw from a class if doing so will drop them below the six (6) semester credit hour minimum required of students in attendance at the Rome Center summer program.

Final Examination Policy

All students must sit for their final examinations on the day and time scheduled. No exams are to be given on another day or at another time without consent from the Associate Dean of Academic Affairs. Travel plans or other personal commitments may not interfere with already scheduled finals.
